MANIFESTO

We do Foresight. Together.

We are a group of researchers and strategists, forward thinkers and doers, from global brands.

We are united around one collective mission:
To listen to the needs and dreams (and fears) of individuals, to understand the forces shaping them.
To learn how they want to live in 10 years.

Because we are curious.
And because the future is too complex to understand on one's own.

We strive to help our companies ask the right questions and make the right decisions that will shape tomorrow.

Knowing we have a responsibility to help – not hurt – our planet in the process.

We apply foresight methods and tools – from measurement and models to intuition, creativity, and emotion.

Using facts and figures, imagery, movies, poetry and song.

We also seek to shine a light on our blind spots. We all have them.

Which is why we seek diversity and embrace inclusion. Because we're better together.

With open minds, we create insights and stories about tomorrow that spark a commitment today.
In our companies and our communities. To free and responsible living.

We do Foresight. Together.
